

Privacy

Personal data that you provide on this website uses Global Centre on Adaptation (GCA) only for the purpose for which you provided it, including in any case all organizational acts for the meeting for which you register. This also includes that photo and video material can be produced from the meeting that can be used for reporting and promoting the meeting or future meetings.

How does GCA handle your personal data?

GCA uses your personal data only for the purpose for which you provided it. To be able to process your registration for the meeting you will be asked to make your data available.

If you also want to receive (news) messages from the Climate Adaptation Summit in the future, you can indicate on the registration form that we may also use your personal data, such as your name, e-mail address and telephone number (optional).

Evaluation form

After the meeting you can receive an evaluation form from GCA. GCA uses the results of the evaluation to improve the offer of the meeting. If the results of the evaluation are published, this is only done at an aggregate level and this data cannot be traced back to an individual.

Who has access to your data?

The data is only processed anonymously and reported at an aggregated level. This is done by PINO events and conferences BV and its sub-processors on behalf of GCA.

View, modify or delete data

You have the right to view, correct or delete your personal data. You can send a request for inspection, correction or removal to info@climateadaptationsummit.gca.org.

How long is your data stored?

GCA does not store personal data for longer than necessary for the purpose for which you left it. The data is then destroyed.

If you have indicated that you wish to continue to receive (news) messages from GCA, your data will be saved. You can indicate in the meantime that we may no longer use your data. You can do this by sending an email to info@climateadaptationsummit.gca.org or via the opt-out at the bottom of the concerning (news) messages.

Contact

For questions or comments about the processing of your personal data you can contact: info@climateadaptationsummit.gca.org.
